

Constitution Day – 26.11.2025

Department of Political Science and Electoral Literacy Club, in association with IQAC, conducted a session of Student's Presentation to commemorate Constitution Day 2025 on 26.11.2025.

Students from semester five highlighted the background of the making of the Constitution, the debates of the Constituent Assembly and the most important provisions.

Sri Nandan Saha, Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science portrayed the importance of Constitution Day. He highlighted the privilege of every Indian to be able to celebrate the uninterrupted journey of our Constitution, enacted in 1940s and which began its journey on 26th January 1950.

Dr Joyeeta Das, Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science highlighted the gap between the Constitutional provisions and its implementation.

Dr Mousumi Dasgupta pointed out the relevance of the Constituent Assembly debates in prevailing times.

This was an exercise in Peer Teaching where senior students performed as resource persons to teach junior students.

Presentation by students of Semester V